RAINEY TIMES is a genealogical surname publication issued annually beginning with Volume 5. The first four volumes were issued quarterly and now sold as bound volumes.

Neither the editors, nor RAINY TIMES, assume any responsibility for errors in material shared by the contributors. Corrections of proven errors will be published. We welcome all materials on Rainey/Raney and all variant spellings for publication. We will return your material if you so request; otherwise, it will be filed for possible use later. Please submit material approximately six months in advance of publication date and make your material as complete as possible. It is very important that extracts, histories, newspaper clippings, and other second-hand information be complete with name of original publication, date, author, publisher, and page numbers or reference. Please send typed or photocopied material.

Queries from subscribers are free. Non-subscribers may submit queries of 12 typed lines or 130 words for $4.00. Please limit queries to Rainey/Raney and all variant spellings and direct descendants.

RAINY TIMES PUBLICATIONS AVAILABLE

BOUND COPIES for Volumes 1, 2, 3, and 4, fully indexed, $12.50 pp each.

Vol. 1 contains 160 pages and includes charts as well as regular features.

Vol. 2 contains 165 pages of regular features.

Vol. 3 contains 160 pages of regular features plus contents index for Vol. 1-3.

Vol. 4 contains 180 pages of regular features and 48 family charts.

SUPPLEMENTARY CHARTS VOLUMES 2A, 3A, and 4A, fully indexed, $12.50 pp. each.

Each of these supplementary volumes containing Pedigree and Family Group Charts includes 160 pages of ancestral charts submitted by subscribers.

The three volumes feature ten different spellings: Raine, Raines, Rains, Ranney, Reany, Rennie, Rheney, Riney, Rainey, and Raney. The charts were contributed by 111 researchers.

ANNUAL Volumes 5, 6, and 7, fully indexed, $16.00 pp each.

Each contains 200 pages including 50 pages of Pedigree and Family Group Charts printed two to a page, and all the regular features.

Up A Tree

You probably noticed from the Table of Contents that this is a special issue containing reprints from our first six volumes of RAINY TIMES. We had so many researchers inquiring about our surname publication that we decided to create this special issue to give you an idea of our contents. We just could not afford to keep mailing out our quarterlies as samples because we would soon run out.

Let me introduce you to RAINY TIMES by giving you a little of our history. Our personal Rainey research was getting us nowhere fast and we realized we were going to need help from other genealogists. With our many contacts of Rainey/Raney researchers made from previous inquiries and years of research, we established RAINY TIMES as a clearinghouse for putting Rainey/Raney enthusiasts in touch with each other. We soon realized that many spellings of the surname would be involved: Ranney, Rannie, Rennie, Rheney, Rayney, Raine, Raines, Rain, Rains, Rainy, Reaney, Reamey, and even Ramey.

Our publication started out as a quarterly of 40 pages each issue, making about 160 pages in a year. All of our material is contributed by subscribers and we soon had enough histories, census, and records submitted that we could expand. We published RAINY TIMES as a quarterly for four years and issued three additional volumes of subscriber charts. Then we changed to an annual publication, increased our pages to 200, and included charts printed two per page. All volumes of RAINY TIMES are now sold as bound volumes and the quarterly issues are not available.

Queries are free to subscribers and we encourage you to submit as much of your research material as you can share. We have special ancestor pedigree and family group charts available free if you will send a stamped self-addressed envelope. Our subscribers come from almost every state and their research covers all areas of the United States. We also include information on lineages from England, Scotland and Ireland.

We are interested in helping subscribers find the missing link they are searching for in their lineage. We have already helped several researchers connect to relatives all across the United States. RAINY TIMES is a valuable tool in family genealogical research and we are interested in letting those who need it know about it. We were awarded first place by the Texas State Genealogical Society in its contest for family surname publications for 1986.

We look forward to helping you with your research. We invite you to let RAINY TIMES work for you.

Happy Ancestor Hunting,

JOHN G. RAINY (SR.), 1795-1851

Submitted by Mrs. Emily S. Farr, 307 Andulusian Trail, Simpsonville, SC 29681.

Although no birthdate has been found for John, on a "declaration for the purpose of obtaining Bounty Land under an Act passed September 18th, 1850" for service in the War of 1812 made by John on 13th November 1850, he stated he was fifty-five years of age; thus a date of 1795 is used. He was born in Chester County, South Carolina.

I have been unable to prove the parents of John but indications are he may have been the son of Thomas Rainey of Chester County, SC. Census records bear this out; also, 11 March 1824 Thomas Rainey sold 68 acres (part of 221 acres) to John Rainey situated in Chester County on the branches of Sandy River.

John married Sarah Goza probably, but not proved, the daughter of John Goza and his wife Mary. On a Bounty Land claim filed by Sarah after John's death, she stated she was married "in the month November 1817"; on another claim, she stated "she was married to the said John Rainey in Fairfield County, SC. on the 15th day of November 1821 by one James Ritchie, a Justice of the Peace." She also stated that "no public or private record of marriage exists or can be procured and that she has no other way of proving her marriage than by her oath as her Bible record was burned."

In the War of 1812 John was a private in the Company commanded by Captain John Reedy, in the Regiment of South Carolina Infantry commanded by Colonel Hugh Means. He was drafted at Chester Court House in the State of South Carolina for the term of six months, and was honorably discharged at Charleston in the State of South Carolina.

On 29 November 1826 John purchased 160 acres situated on the waters of Wateree Creek in Fairfield County, SC, also 3½ acres on which there was a saw mill. On 7 January 1830 John sold this tract of land and on 22 July 1830, in DeKalb Co., GA, Sarah relinquished her dower. John is shown in the 1830 census of DeKalb Co. GA. with three sons and three daughters, and Sarah.

Between 1844 and 1848 John moved his family to Cherokee Co., GA. In Dec. 1850 John and his son William sailed from Panama to California on the steamer Antelope. The ship landed in San Francisco on 9 January 1851, 21 days after leaving Panama. This is documented in San Francisco Passenger Lists by Rasmussen. Tradition is that he went in search of gold. He was taken ill soon after his arrival and died 11 February 1851. William returned home and tradition is John is buried in California. Suffice it to say, he is not buried in the cemetery where Sarah's grave is.

John's will was probated in Cherokee Co., GA. He was a large landowner and the acreage was divided into lots and drawn by each of his eight sons. The slaves went to three daughters only as the eldest daughter had married against his wishes. He bequeathed to her and her husband five dollars to be paid in gold or silver. Her children were bequeathed $250 to be loaned out by the Executors until these children became of age. Sarah, his wife, was bequeathed ten dollars to be paid in gold or silver for her sole portion of his estate.

Six of John's sons were in the Civil War; one was killed in the Battle of Atlanta; two died in Prisoner of War camps, Point Lookout, MD and Hart's Island, New York Harbor. A seventh son was exempted because of a disability.

Sarah moved to DeKalb County, GA after John's death. It is not known if she died there but her death occurred 28 September 1876. She is buried in the New Hope Baptist-Church Cemetery, Bartow County, GA, which is just over the line from Cherokee County.

Also in DeKalb County, GA there were three Rainey brothers from Chester Co., SC. They were Bennett, Charles, and Thomas. I have not yet proved that they were John's brothers but Bennett was a witness to John's will. Charles married in South Carolina Rebecca Goza, sister of Sarah Goza Rainey.

THE RAINY FAMILY HISTORY

Submitted by Lorraine S. Gorman, 4160 Silver Crest Ave., Sacto, CA 95821.
This statement was written by Phillip D. Raine, son of George Washington Raine, started Dec. 28, 1935, completed Aug. 15, 1940.

My father and mother were both born in the State of Kentucky. Father was born in Harden County, near Elizabethtown, Sept. 10, 1832. Mother was born in Knox County, near Barberville, June 21, 1839. I have very little information of their childhood, except that it was spent in Kentucky and Missouri, to which State they migrated, but I do not know how old they were, or whether they ever met prior to the time that they moved to Missouri.

I believe that Mother's relatives were slave owners, for I have heard her tell of the kind treatment accorded her by an old negro mammy. Mother's parents passed away during her infancy and she was raised by her mother's sister, Dorcas Mason.

Father, George Washington (Wash) Raine, had six brothers and two sisters, as recorded elsewhere in this statement. When Father and his brothers were children they were boys in every sense of the word. Missouri, at that early date was on the frontier, and as my father's people were poor, the boys were accustomed to "roughing it", since they did not have the advantages nor the luxuries that was the good fortune of youngsters who lived at a later date. Those boys, coming from rugged parents as they did, lived the simple, strong, healthy and robust life of their parents, and of course many were the rollicking escapades that were joined in from time to time by those mischievous youngsters. I shall not dwell on this period except to relate that on one day when the boys were taking their morning exercise, it was wet and cold and they were not too warmly dressed, most of them clad only in shirt and trousers. After running around awhile, getting wet and cold they all went into the house where a roaring fire was burning in the fireplace. During the exercising Tom had captured a Yellow Jacket and was surreptitiously holding it waiting an opportunity; that opportunity soon came, for as Smith was standing with his back to the fire drying his clothes, Tom noticed that he had a hole in the back of his one shirt, leaving a bare spot where the skin was showing. Master Tom placed the nether end of the bee to the bare spot. Smith, thereupon yelled loudly, "Bob! Bob! See if my back is on fire." Many such instances of their good natured deviltry could be recorded, but I shall not attempt to do so at this time.

Mother and Father were married on March 11, 1856.

In the year 1861, my father, George Washington Raine, my mother, Martha Thomas Tuggle Raine, their two daughters, Eva May and Sarah M. (Puss), and my father's brother, Smith Raine, and his family, joined a covered wagon train, drawn entirely by oxen, and started for California. For four months after leaving the Missouri River they had to endure such hardships as: fighting Indians, fording turbulent rivers, sickness, (somewhere along the route my sister Puss, as she was familiarly called, was stricken with diphtheria and for many days her life was despaired of--Doctor Allen, a member of the party, saved her life), and many other hardships too numerous to mention. They finally arrived in the Sierra Valley, Sierra County, California, where Smith Raine and his family located on a ranch. My mother and father, however, continued on to a small mining town called Howland Flat, also located in Sierra County, where mother's uncle Tom Eve, was engaged in gold mining. I have no record of father ever doing any gold mining, but he did do blacksmithing, carpentering, charcoal burning, etc.

Pascagoula Public Library

My sister, Francis T. Raine was born at Howland Flat, in 1862. She died a year later in Sacramento, California, where my parents were visiting. I too, was born in Howland Flat, on Oct. 30, 1863.

In the early days those rugged pioneers did enjoy themselves to the limit, in spite of what we, at the present time, would call great hardships. What did they care? They were accustomed to hardships. The cost of living was high; flour and bacon were on dollar a pound, and all other commodities were priced in about the same proportion. They did not mind these high prices, however, because gold, which had lured them to undertake and endure their many hardships, was plentiful and easy to obtain.

Everyone had golddust and robbery was unknown. I heard mother relate that upon one occasion after a periodical "cleanup" in a mine, in which her uncle was interested, the entire amount of $50,000 in gold pans, was placed under a bed in one of the rooms, where it remained for several days, with the doors unlocked and the probability of robbery unthought of. The early pioneers who came to California, at that date, were usually high-class, honest people, but when they did encounter a thief or others who were not strictly on the "up and up" they made an example of the wrong-doer by promptly hanging them. The warning was usually heeded, too.

Thomas Eve, mother's uncle, was considered a wealthy man. His wealth was obtained from the sale of his properties. However, like many others, he died a poor man due to subsequent unprofitable mining ventures.

The most difficult problem the people of Howland Flat encountered in the winter was the heavy snow, which fell to a depth of 30 feet during the winter of 1863-64, and covered all the houses and cabins in town. The people did not attempt to remove the snow, but ran tunnels from one house to another. The people of the Flat decided to celebrate the Fourth of July, 1864, but in order to do so they found it necessary to remove three feet of snow that had not melted from the heavy snowfall of the preceding winter.

There were no lamps at that time and the people had to depend entirely on candles for lighting. It was necessary to keep the candles burning night and day for many months. Large quantities of candles were shipped in before the winter season arrived. However, some of the more thrifty housewives who possessed candle moulds made their own candles out of tallow. I remember that mother made the candles used by the family in this manner as late as 1869.

After remaining at Howland Flat for nearly three years, the family moved and settled near Smith's Neck, later known as Loyalton. We settled on a ranch at the foot of the Lombardy Hill, known at various times as the Brown Place, the Dory Place and the Dotta Place. Father built the house that stood there for so many years, which I believe has lately been moved to Loyalton. The earliest recollection of my childhood was an incident that occurred while we were living in this house. I was 2½ years old and was riding on a load of hay with my sisters, May and Puss. They told me not to lie down, but I did

Local History & Genealogy Dept.

not take their advice and promptly rolled off the load. I hit the ground with such force that they thought I was dead when they picked me up. I quickly recovered, however, after some brown sugar in an envelope was given me by my dear mother. When my mother gave me that sugar it was the best that she could do. Candy, ice cream and all the delicacies that children are now eating, were unknown, or at least were not available to the pioneers at that time.

Father had acquired a dairy herd and several yoke of oxen, and in 1867 he decided that it was necessary to move on and look for a better place to settle. So he loaded all the family possessions in the ox-drawn wagons, and taking along the dairy herd, started for Surprise Valley in Modoc County, at that time a part of Siskiyou County. It was late in the spring of 1867 when we arrived at Eagleville, then known as Eaglecreek, and settled on a rented ranch owned by Alec Grider. Although, it was late in the season, my father proceeded to plant a crop of both barley and wheat. The grain, however, did not ripen until late in October after the first snow storm of the winter. After remaining on the Grider ranch for one year my father bought the first unit of 150 acres, and increased it to 600 acres by 1883, when he sold it to Murdock and Cummings. This ranch is located about 1½ miles northeast of Eagleville in Surprise Valley. It has been since increased to 800 acres and is now owned by State Senator Powers (1940).

When Geo. W. (Wash.) Raine settled in Surprise Valley he engaged in general farming, dairying, and the raising of horses, cattle, and hogs, but no sheep. At that time there was the bitterest feeling between cattlemen and sheepmen and at times the warfare became so bitter that occasionally it ended fatally. However, nothing happened on our ranch except to have father request sheepmen (at the point of a gun) to remove their herds from our land. Sheepmen did not pretend to own their range and most of them would encroach upon the cattlemen's land. This the cattlemen strenuously objected to since cattle will not graze on land where sheep have been feeding.

Father owned only a small dairy herd when he first arrived at Surprise Valley, but when he sold his holdings he owned something over 550 head of stock and beef cattle. However, cattle-raising stockmen from Nevada frequently gathered large herds of beef steers from the range and brought them to Surprise Valley to fatten them for market. Hay was very cheap and the stockmen could obtain better prices by feeding in the Winter than they could by selling off the range in summer. The ranch was splendidly equipped with a fine sheltered feeding lot, and large quantities of hay raised on our ranch, in addition to that raised on adjoining ranches was available. There was no trouble in securing large droves of cattle to feed. In addition to raising and feeding, father was buying and selling beef cattle and doing quite well. During a period of 10 or 12 years he drove many hundred head of cattle to Virginia City and Gold Hill, Nevada.

On one occasion a man from the eastern part of Oregon brought 400 head of steers to the valley for feeding through the winter. He offered to sell them cheaply and father purchased the entire herd; fattened and drove them to Gold Hill, Nevada, where he sold the entire lot to a butcher named Tom Fox. Fox was supposed to be very sold financially, but before the money could be collected for the sale, he failed and father lost the whole purchase price, which amounted to about $10,000. This was a staggering blow to father because he was deprived of all his available cash, also losing on other deals which would have been very profitable.

NOTE: This story is several pages longer and will be continued in our next issue January 1983 and completed in April 1983 if possible.

WILLIAM ANDERSON RANEY

Submitted by Mrs. Peg T. Rathburn, Route 1, Box 289, Interlachen, FL 32048.

William Anderson Raney was born in Lunenburg County, Virginia on Nov. 12, 1826 near Meherrin River. He worked on a farm until he was seventeen years of age, at which period of his life, with but a meagre common school education, he ventured out into the world to earn a competency by the "sweat of his brow." In 1844 he entered the employ of Hon. Wyatt Cardwell, as tapster of the "Brick Tavern", at Charlotte C.H., Va., where he remained for six years. During his service as tapster, he was known by the soubriquet of "Grimes."

In the fall of 1850 he emigrated to north Alabama, and in 1851 lived with Josiah Horn. In Dec. 1851, he went into business in Decatur with Col. A. A. McCartney, remaining here until the spring of 1853, when ill health induced his return to Virginia. During the remainder of 1853 and in 1854 he was in the employ of Col. E.C. Jordan, of Jordan's Springs, Va. After regaining his health, and at the urgent solicitation of Col. McCartney, Mr. Raney in 1855 returned to Decatur and entered the employ of that gentleman, forming a partnership with him in the drug business later on. During that year Mr. Raney attached himself to the M.E. Church, South, and went back to Virginia in search of a life companion, and in Oct. 1855, near Charlotte, C.H., married Miss Emeline L. Baily, the union resulting in two sons and two daughters.

In 1853 Mr. Raney was appointed Postmaster at Decatur by A.V. Brown, Postmaster General, holding the office until 1862 when the blighting touch of the war relieved him of his official cares. He was Decatur's second express agent, Capt. J.W. Jones having been the first. The salary was then $10 per month and all ground matter could be carried to the trains each day in his hands.

In Dec. 1862, Mr. Raney joined the 7th Alabama Cavalry, Company D., Gen. Wheeler's Command. In 1864 he was taken prisoner near Atlanta, and held as such in Camp Chase until the war was over. He went to Nashville and there found his wife and oldest boy, everything in Decatur having been destroyed by Federal soldiers. With only 35¢ representing his available assets, he immediately sought employment, secured it and remained in Nashville the rest of 1865.

In the spring of 1866, Col. J.W. Sloss gave him the agency of the Nashville & Decatur railroad at Decatur, which Mr. Raney regarded as a stroke of good fortune, as it enabled him to return to the ashes of his old home. For seven years he was a faithful and most efficient agent, retiring to engage in merchandising, which he pursued for six years. For the last six years Mr. Raney has been transfer clerk of the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Decatur, resigning recently to accept the position of city tax collector, which position he now honors.

At different times in his useful life Mr. Raney has been a justice of the peace and a member of the city council, and is now an official member of the M.E. Church, South, and a Knight of Honor P.D.

Mr. Raney is one of those men whose lives are almost without reproach. He has proven himself most worthy in every relation of life, and the easy circumstances that years of earnest endeavor have placed him in, are the gratifying features of his closing days, and his friends everywhere wish that he may live many years to enjoy his comfortable surroundings and the society of his family and friends.

Ed. Note: Five brothers served in the Confederate Army. William A. Raney was under Gen. Wheeler. George B. Raney was under Gen. Forrest. James A. Raney was with a N.C. regiment and died at Point Lookout a prisoner of war. Pete Wesley Raney was with Kirby Smith Co. G at Bull Run, 38th Va. Reg. Ben D. Raney was with a Va. Regiment. More will be printed later on this Raney family.

page 818: "James Raney in 1868 was elected to this office (Clerk of Court) and was reelected in 1870. James Raney was born on the 13th of May, 1829, in Blunt County, Tennessee. He was a son of Alexander Raney, a native of South Carolina, and Elizabeth Raney, nee McFee, a Tennessean by birth and a daughter of the Rev. Mr. McFee, the friend and coadjutor of Parson Brownlow. James had the misfortune to lose his mother before he was a year old, in Montgomery County, Indiana, whither the family had removed in the fall of 1829. He was the youngest of a family of six. After the death of his mother he was taken by Judge W.H. Heath, by whom he was raised, and with whom he lived until attaining manhood. When he was eighteen years old he commenced learning the trade of carpenter and joiner, and before he was twenty years of age he set up business for himself, taking contracts to put up buildings, etc. On the 2nd of January, 1855, he was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Reese, and shortly after they moved to Warren, Jo Daviess County, where he was engaged in the same line of business until the spring of 1861, when the cloud of civil war descended upon this country, and James, leaving wife and home, enlisted in Company E. 15th Illinois infantry regiment. This was one of the organizations raised under the state law by which ten regiments were enlisted by the state government, and were mustered in to service of the same on the 10th day of May, 1861. Fourteen days later the regiment was mustered in to the service of the general government, and James Raney was elected captain of the company. This was under the first call for three years' volunteers.

"On the 6th of April, 1862, at the battle of Shiloh, the major of the regiment being killed, James Raney was commissioned to that office. In November, 1861, he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel, and afterward was raised by brevet to that of colonel. Besides many minor engagements and skirmishes, he participated in the battle of Shiloh, advance on the siege of Corinth, battle of Hatchie, siege of Vicksburg, taking part in the charges of the 19 and 22nd of June, battles of Jackson, Raymond and Champion Hills. On the 16th of January, 1864, he was compelled by sickness to forward the resignation of his commission, which was accepted some time afterward, and the colonel came home. In 1866 he gave up his business in Illinois, and came to Adair county, with the intention of farming, but on arrival here, opened a small hardware store, which he ran until the fall of 1868, when he was elected clerk of the court, as above. In the fall of 1872 he established the Register at Fontanelle, and ran it until October, 1875, when he removed with it to the rising town of Stuart, but in the following spring he sold it, and returned to his former home in Fontanelle. In January, 1881, he engaged in the purchase and shipping of grain, and in April, of the same year, commenced buying stock. The later business he continued alone until January, 1883, when the present partnership between him and J.H. Hulbert was formed, to deal in cattle and stock in a large way. The colonel has four children living--Manly A., James F., John R., and Milton U., besides four that died in infancy. James Raney is a worshipful master of the Masonic Lodge at Fontanelle, a member of the Chapter, and of Lentz Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, and a straight Republican in politics.."

page 947: "M.A. Rany, the present postmaster of Fontanelle, and editor and proprietor of the Observer, was born in Montgomery County, Indiana, near Lafayette, in 1856. While quite an infant, his parents removed to Warren County, Illinois, where they resided until they came to Fontanelle in 1866. Manley attended school at Battleground, Indiana, during the years 1874 and '75, receiving the finishing touches that were lacking in the district schools of this locality. On the 21st of July, 1877, he was united in marriage with Miss Francesca McManigal, a daughter of F.R. McManigal, late resident of Lock Haven, Pennsylvania, but then a citizen of Casey, Iowa. M.A. resided at Stuart until 1879, engaged as a compositor in the office of the Locomotive, and then removed to Exira, Audubon county, editing the Audubon county Defender during 1880. In the spring of 1881 he went to Pennsylvania with the intention of remaining in that state, but returned to Fontanelle and purchased the Observer, then on its third volume, with a meagre circulation of less than two hundred, and has continued up to the present time as its editor and proprietor. Mr. Rany is a member of the Blue Lodge and chapter of Fontanelle, and of Bethany commandery, K.T. of Creston, Iowa, and of the Odd Fellows fraternity. He was appointed postmaster March 15, 1882, and still holds the office. His marriage has been blessed with four children, whose names are, respectively: Clyde B., Kate H., Roscoe J. and Earl M." [Mrs. James notes that her mother, Meta Florence Raney, was a fifth child born to them in 1886.]

THE REGIMENTAL HISTORY OF THE 15th ILLINOIS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY, published under authority of an act of the forty-fifth General Assembly by the Illinois-Vicksburg Military Park Commission.

"This regiment was raised and organized under the "ten regiment act", at Freeport, Illinois, and mustered in to the United States service on the morning of May 24, 1861. The companies came from the first congressional district of Illinois consisting of Lake, McHenry, Winnebago, Stephenson, Jo Davies, Carroll and Ogle counties.

"Shortly after its organization it was sent to Alton, Illinois, from whence it proceeded by steamer to St. Charles, Missouri, thence to Mexico, Missouri, early in July. Soon thereafter a portion of the regiment marched to Fulton, Missouri, thence by steamer to Jefferson Barracks, Missouri. The other portion marched to Hannibal, Missouri, thence by steamer to Jefferson Barracks.

"From there it moved to Rolla, Missouri, arriving in time to cover the retreat of General Siegel after the battle of Wilson's Creek, Missouri. Later the regiment was ordered to Jefferson City and thence to Tipton, Missouri, where it was attached to General Fremont's army (destined for Springfield, Missouri). This regiment made a forced march of nearly one hundred miles to Springfield, returning to Sedalia, Missouri, and after the capture of a considerable Confederate force there, it took up its march to Otterville, Missouri, where it went in to winter quarters.

On the first of February 1862, it marched to Jefferson City, thence by rail and transport to St. Louis, Missouri, and finally to Fort Donelson, Tennessee. From there it marched across to Fort Henry (on the Tennessee River). From there it proceeded up to the river with the great fleet of troops and was the first regiment to land at Pittsburg Landing, Tennessee.

The regiment was in Gen. S.A. Hurlbut's division and was in the first line of battle at Shiloh, on the early morning of April 6, 1862, where it struggled in the terrible contest of the Hornet's Nest". On the next day, April 7, it also participated in the final charge and defeat of the enemy.

Later it moved to Corinth, Mississippi, and participated in the siege.. After the evacuation of Corinth it changed station frequently. Went first to Grand Junction, Tenn., thence to Holly Springs, Miss., returning to LeGrange, Tenn., and then to Memphis, where it remained until Sept. 6, 1862. From there it finally went to Bolivar, and reached the Hatchie River on the morning of Oct. 4 and participated in the engagement at Metamora Hills. It captured one battery of artillery and many prisoners. It participated next in the Northern Mississippi Campaign, advancing as far as Coffeeville. After abandonment of this campaign the regiment was stationed most of the time at LaGrange and Memphis, Tenn.

In May 1863 it was sent, as part of General Lauman's 4th Division, 16th Army Corps, to reinforce General Grant's army at Vicksburg, Miss., being assigned to the left of the investment line about May 25. Here it served during the siege, until the surrender, July 4, 1863. It then participated under General Sherman, in the second campaign and siege of Jackson, Miss.

Having again returned to Vicksburg, it embarked for Natchez, Miss., where it remained until November 10, 1863. In the meantime, it participated in various expeditions, principally to Harrisonburg, La., where Ft. Beauregard--on the Ouachita River--was captured and destroyed. It then returned to Vicksburg, where the regiment re-enlisted.

On Feb. 1, 1864, it participated in Gen. Sherman's Meridian expedition, having an encounter with a Confederate force on Champion's Hill. Upon its return to Vicksburg in March 1864, the Veteran Regiment went to Illinois on its furlough. At expiration of its Veteran furlough it proceeded to Huntsville, Ala., and was there attached to the 17th Army Corps, commanded by Gen. F.P. Blair. From Huntsville it moved to Decatur and Rome, Ga., becoming part of Gen. Sherman's Army on its march to Atlanta. It assisted in building the forts at Allatoona Pass and in the heroic defense of this strategic point.

The 15th Illinois Regiment having become greatly decimated in numbers, was consolidated with the 14th Illinois Regiment of Infantry and was known as the Veteran's Battalion of the 14th and 15th Illinois Infantry. Both organizations, together, only numbering 625 men. This new command was stationed at Ackworth, Big Shanty and Marietta, Ga., guarding Gen. Sherman's line of communication. This consolidated command was mounted and acted as scouts, marching in advance of Gen. Sherman's Army to the Sea. After the capture of Savannah, Ga., the regiment participated in the Campaign of the Carolinas, at Columbia, S.C. and at Fayette, Bentonville, Goldsboro, and Raleigh, N.C. At this last place a sufficient number of recruits arrived to again fill up both the 14th and 15th Regiments, and the veteran battalion designated by these numbers was then discontinued.

Gen. Johnston, having surrendered, the 15th Regiment marched to Washington, D.C., via Richmond and Fredericksburg, Va., and participated in the Grand Review of May 24, 1865. Here it remained for only two weeks, then it proceeded to Louisville, KY, thence to Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., arriving at this Fort July 1, 1865. It was then sent out to the plains, arriving at Ft. Kearney, Neb., on the 14th day of August, 1865, from which place it returned to Ft. Leavenworth to be mustered out of service, Sept. 16, 1865. It was then ordered and moved to Springfield, Ill., for final payment and discharge, on Sept. 22, 1865.

OLD COVENANTER CEMETERY OF MARION COUNTY, ILLINOIS (Reformed Presbyterian)

The following information was researched and compiled by Maxine E. Wormer, published in the Marion County, IL Genealogical & Historical Society quarterly 1977, and submitted by Ralph Rainey, Carlyle, IL.

The Old Covenanter Cemetery and Church are located in the southwest quarter of Section 33, Raccoon Twp., Marion County, Illinois, about four miles west of State Route 37 and about a half mile north of the Marion-Jefferson County Line Road. The church was organized early in 1830 by the Presbyterians of the Walnut Hill area, among whom were Thomas Kell, Sr., Spruce A. Boggs, William Gaston, Sr., James and Joseph Telford, MATTHEW RAINY, Matthew Cunningham, Samuel, William and John Storment, Isaac Smith and James and Robert Foster. Because the founding fathers, for the most part, were Reformed Presbyterians (Covenanters), they held firmly to the doctrine of the Old Scottish Covenanters of the 17th Century. Almost without exception, the organizers were first generation Americans of Scotch-Irish descent whose fathers had emigrated from Northern Ireland to South Carolina before the American Revolutionary War. Many of them had been born in the Rocky Creek Covenanter settlement in Chester District, South Carolina. According to the General Meeting Book, they resolved of 30 December 1830 that "the spring about one-half mile north of Spruce Boggs' place be fixed as the location of a Meeting House." A committee consisting of Thomas Kell, Sr., MATTHEW RAINY, James Foster, Isaac Smith and Samuel Storment was appointed to draw up plans for the building.

Notes from Section Labeled Florida:

Extract from National Encyclopedia of American Biographies, page 215:

RAHEY, George Pettus, jurist, was born at Apalachicola, FL 11 Oct 1845, son of David Greenway and Harriet Frances (Jordan) RAHEY, natives of Virginia. He entered the University of Virginia in January 1863, but in the following September he enlisted in the Confederate army, serving until the close of the war. In 1866 he entered the law department of the University of Virginia, and was admitted to the bar in the following year. He began practice in Apalachicola, at once attaining a prominent place at the bar, being elected to the legislature in 1868. In 1869 he removed to Tallahassee, where he devoted himself with great assiduity to his profession, rapidly attaining first rank as a lawyer, an advocate, and public speaker. In 1876 he was a member of the state Democratic executive committee and acted as junior counsel in the case before the supreme court in which the Republican board was compelled to recanvass the vote for governor of the state, with the result that George F. Drew, the Democratic candidate, was declared elected. Mr. Raney was appointed attorney general of the state by Gov. Drew in 1877, and reappointed by Gov. Bloxham in 1881. In 1885 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court, and in 1888 he was elected to the same position under the new Constitution. Upon the reorganization of the court in 1889 he drew the billet giving him the position of chief justice for the term of six years, but he resigned in 1891 and returned to the practice of law. His term of office was one of the most successful in the history of the state; his keenness of discernment, complete knowledge of the law, and great natural ability as a logician rendering his decisions among the most scholarly and brilliant utterances in the judicial reports of Florida. Judge RAHEY was married in 1873 to Elizabeth, daughter of Col. Thompson B. Lamar, and niece of Hon. L.Q.C. Lamar of the United States supreme court, and has four children.

Illinois: Extract from the National Cyclopaedia of American Biography:

RAINY, Warren Robert, surgeon, was born at Salem, IL, Feb. 7, 1887, son of George S. and Arabella May (McMakin) RAINY, grandson of Robert and Margaret (Cunningham) RAINY and great-grandson of Matthew and Ann (Gaston) RAINY. His father was a physician, at one time president of the Southern Illinois Medical Society. Warren R. RAINY was a student at the University of Chicago during 1905-07 and was graduated M.D. at Northwestern University in 1910. For two years following graduation he was intern and special resident, under John B. Murphy (q.v.) at the Mercy Hospital, Chicago. From 1912 until 1915 he engaged in general practice in association with his father in Salem, IL. For six months in 1915 he served with the rank of major as a member of an American unit, attached to the British army in France. Upon his return to the United States and until April 1917 he engaged in the practice of surgery in East St. Louis, IL. Following this country's entry into the First World War he became a lieutenant in the U.S. army medical corps, and was attached to the base hospital at Washington University in St. Louis, until 1919, being promoted to captain. From 1920 until 1941 he held commissions, from captain to colonel, in the officers reserve corps, U.S. army. Upon leaving the army in 1919, he remained in St. Louis, where he practiced surgery during the remainder of his life. From 1927 until his death he specialized in proctology. In addition to his private practice, RAINY held the following appointments: assistant professor of clinical surgery to Barnes, St. Louis Children's and St. Louis Maternity hospitals; surgeon to outpatients, University Clinics; consulting surgeon (proctology) to the Homer G. Phillips Hospital; assistant surgeon, Jewish Hospital; surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital; proctologist to the Robert Koch Hospital, and from 1939 until his death assistant professor of surgery at Washington University School of Medicine. A frequent contributor to medical journals, his more important papers included: "Prevention of deformities in acute surgical lesions in children" (Jour. Mo. Med. Assn., Aug, 1923), "Syphilitic stricture of the rectum" (IL Med. Joun., May 1923), "Treatment of Septic Meningitis by continuous drainage" (With L.B. Alford, Jour. Aerm. Med. Assn., Nov 1923), "Tumor of ovary with twisted pedicle, occurring in child 2½ years of age" (Ann. Surg., June 1921), "Standardization of equipment of treatment of fractures" (IL Med. Jour., Mar. 1925), "Prolapsoe of the rectum in children" (ibid., Oct 1926) and "Rectal fissure" (Jour. Mo. Med. Assn. Apr. 1928). RAINY was a member of the founders group of the American Board of Surgery and a member of the American, Missouri State and St. Louis medical associations, American College of Surgeons, American Proctologic Society, Sons of the Revolution and the University Club of St. Louis. From 1940 until his death he was president of the Barnes Hospital Society. His religious affiliation was with the Presbyterian Church. Politically he was a Republican. For his services with the British army he was awarded the King George medallion. In addition to his interest in surgery and medical education, he found pleasure in the management of a 300-acre farm at Salem, IL which he owned. He was married in Carbondale, IL Oct. 26, 1912 to Eugenia, daughter of Thomas Sherman Marshall, a banker, and had two sons: George Marshall and Robert RAINY. He died in St. Louis, MO, July 28, 1941.

Pages 143-151:

DESCENDANTS OF THOMAS RANNEY

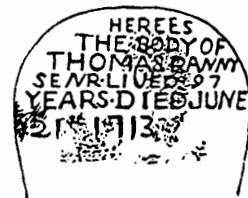

FIRST GENERATION

The second volume of Scottish Arms names the Rany and Renny families. Herbert Rainie sat in Parliament for Dumfries in 1572. Robert Rayning was provost in 1578. Symon Renny was bailey of Inverkeithing in 1562. In 1450 Rany and Renny were owners of land in Forfarshire. Sir John Rany of England is named in 1660. The name is given in various forms in France and Flanders at very early date.

1. The first known of our Thomas Rany is in the land records of Middletown, a house lot having been granted to him in 1658. His marriage is recorded as in May, 1659, to Mary Hubbard. At this date George Grave returned to Hartford and his grants were transferred to Thomas Rany, the record being dated in 1663. In 1698 Alexander Rollo, a Scotchman, and an attorney who had married a daughter of John Kirby, wrote and witnessed a will wherein "Thomas Rheny" gave to his son Ebenezer a parcel of land. This spelling does not occur in a deed dated a day later wherein the father gave adjoining land to a brother of Ebenezer. The conclusion is that Alexander Rollo is responsible for the form in which he wrote the name. In Scottish records Rheny is a familiar name. The conclusion is that Thomas Rany came from Scotland. On his tombstone the name is Ranny, and about this date, 1713, his sons wrote their name as Rany and soon after as Ranny. The reproduction of their autographs is given herewith. The deed of 1698 is in the possession of Mrs. Charles Collard Adams. While the public records give the birth of only five children, and the church records give the baptism of Marcy, the will gives the names of the ten children who survived him. While the public record says he died June 25, 1713, the gravestone says he died June 21, 1713. He is supposed to have been the first one buried here, as it was only in January preceding it was voted to set apart land for a cemetery.

His signature to deeds in his later years was attested by a + and it may be that he was as unfortunate in one respect as were others of his day and generation. He was not a member of the church. He served equally with others on various town committees and was an active member of the community. In the census of 1670 when the inhabitants were rated he was rated at £105, the ninth in a list of 52 proprietors.

Mary Hubbard, his wife, was born in Hartford, Jan. 16, 1641-2, the eldest child of George Hubbard and Elizabeth Watts. She d. Dec. 18, 1721, and is without a gravestone. In his will dated May 2, 1681, George Hubbard, aged 80, said, "I give to my daughter Mary Rany forty shillings out of my Estate, but on further consideration instead of that forty shillings I give my said daughter the on halfe of my halfe Mille Lott on the East side the Great River by the List of 1673." His homestead in Middletown was on Main Street extending south from what is Rapello Avenue and reaching back to the Connecticut River. Thomas Allen's homestead lay between Hubbard's and Riverside Cemetery.

WILL OF THOMAS RANNEY

In the Name of God, Amen, the Sixth day of March in the year of our Lord 1711. I, Thomas Ranny of Middletown in the County of Hartford in New England, Husbandman, being very sick and weak in body, but of competent understanding and memory, thanks be given to God, therefore calling to mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed for men once to die. Do make and ordain this my last will and testament that is to say, principally and first of all I give and recommend my soul into the hands of God y gave it, hoping through the Merits, death and passion of my Saviour Jesus Christ to have full and free pardon and forgiveness of all my sins, and to inherit everlasting life. And my body I commit to ye earth, to be decently buried at the discretion of my executors hereafter named, nothing doubting but at ye Generall resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, And, as touching such worldly estate wherewithal it hath pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, demise and dispose of the same in the following manner, and form, that is to say, First I will that all those debts and dutys as I do owe in right or Conscience to any maner of person or persons whatsoever shall be well and truly contented and paid, or ordained to be paid in convenient time after my decease, by my Executors hereafter named.

Item. I give and bequeath to my dear wife, Mary, during her naturall life the free use and improvement of that half of my dwelling house wherein we now live, with the seller belonging to it, and ye one half o' my homelott, and half of my old barn with the new end thereof, to-gether with my whole upper lott in the long meadow both plowing land and grass land, with two acres on ye near neck, the use of a team with a yoke of oxen and a horse, and necessary instruments belonging to it, and so much bedding and household stuff as she shall need for her own personal comfort and benefit, and likewise she shall have the whole despose of that land which her Father Hubbard gave her, and I do ordain and appoint my son Thomas to take care of his Mother after my decease and to see that what I have willed to her for her comfortable maintenance be improved to that end.

Item. The Sweetwater and Rainey Communities in JONES COUNTY, MISS.

Another son of Tom and Rebecca was Appleton Rainey who had 225 acres and became a deputy sheriff. His young life came to an end in 1884 at the age of 33 when he was killed near Seminary. His wife Sarah Ann took over the responsibilities of rearing a family. Will Rainey, who married Anna Smith from Louisiana, became a prominent farmer by raising livestock and being a merchant. He reared 10 children. Other sons who became prominent included Marion, known as Bud, Frank, who died while hoeing his crops in 1929, and Jefferson Davis Rainey. In the 1880's there were seven Rainey families in this area.

In 1839 there was a young man of thirty-one years of age that settled near the Leaf River. His name was Thomas R. Rainey, better known as Tom. He married William Tisdale's daughter Rebecca in 1841. Tom was a sheep farmer and around 1857 bought from Littleton A. Fairchild a large track of land south of Snow Creek and west of Moselle. There he built his home and reared his ten children.

Tom grew corn and potatoes and by 1880 his property had grown to 560 acres. He was known for his compassionate spirit and caring personality, but also his temper. In 1895 he died at the age of 86.

The Rainey family would exert a great influence in Jones County. The sons of Tom Rainey were tall in stature and in faith. One of the children was John Washington Rainey who married Mary Windham, a daughter of a large landowner in this area, Robert C. Windham. He owned over 1400 acres and his wife Caroline lived 90 years. John Washington started his homestead early in the 1870's with 165 acres, 30 sheep, and 35 pigs. John was known for his long white hair, his white beard, and his love for short cigars. His wife Mary died in Dec. 1932; a month later John passed on at the same age his father had died.

Old Letters

This section of the RAINY TIMES will be limited to any letter dated prior to 1900 and which you consider interesting and about which you would like to learn more of the writer.

Copy of 1848 Letter from McKee Reany to Isaac Walters. Submitted by Roy S. Raney, 7781 St., Rt. 13 NE, Rt. #1, Somerset, OH 43783. Spelling and sentence structure are typed as written originally.

Monteray Mexico
May 29th 1848

Dear Brother: I take my pen to inform you of my health & welfare & hoping that these few lines will find you enjoying the same goode Blesings-- Dear Brother I want you to forgive my neglectsicne I have left home I have never be in a situation where I could control myself to attend to my -- friends at home. I never have wrote as much as I ought to have done on account of difrent obstickels which I will tell you of hereafter-- I started to mexico in July forty six driveing a ten mule team I drove it Ealeven months at twenty five dollars per month that took me over a large porsion of mexico & brought me to monterary. I drove team here three months I was then apointed asistant wagons master I now have a train which makes my wages fifty eighth dollars per month I did intend to go home this sumer but by one little blot of ill luck that hapened me about a month ago I wont go before next spring, my trunk was stole out of my tent by which I lost three hundred & fifty dollars in cash my clothing and a gold which I had been ofered one hundred & fifty dollars for. I had carlesly took it & laid it in the trunk before super & after super walked uptown come down about eight oclock & mister trunk had walked out. as it is of nouse to fret about spilt milk alow me to spin a few yarns about thees fine mexicans ladys if you choose to call them scuch for my part I have never scene anything fancy about them yet although the hyer clas are very friendly and very atentive to any one who treats them with respect they are very fond of dancing and other sport I have got to speak a little broken spanish which makes them appear more sivilized to me than they did---so much for that they never convince this hart that has never yet been soiled by my one native land for above any such pale faceses-----

It is of no use for me to write concirning the work as we have nothing only as it comes from the states our expectations are that the treaty will be rattyfied Give my best respects to all of our friends and relations & my best love to your self, write me as soon as this comes to hand if you pleas, and as many of my friends as will write I will answer with pleasure (all) Remember me to Robert & Rebeca also to uncle Isaac & James Walters (to all) Isaac letus not forget each other solong again I acknoledge it was my fault for I knew where you was and you did not know where I was -- forgive this and it shale not occur on my again-- as I have respected you as a brother & sic shall for her sake whome you hold most dear I remain your affectionite brother untile death. To Isaac Walters.

Waldenmaier Notebooks

This Raney/Rainey material has been assembled over a period of time by INEZ RANEY WALDENMAIER, 722 N. Birmingham Pl., Tulsa, OK 74110. The information printed in this column is extracted from her collection of notebooks and transcribed exactly as she wrote it. We have capitalized all Raney/Rainey names for your convenience.

I. Notebook labeled NATHANIEL RANEY-RAINEY, Virginia.

Rev. War Pensioner--used both spellings. b. 26 July 1764 Sussex Co., Va. Residences: entered 1780 from Brunswick Co., VA. 1832 lived in Dinwiddie Co., VA. Age 68. 1845 reference made to his son--name not given.

On 17 Feb 1832 NATHANIEL RANEY appeared to the County Court of Dinwiddie County, a resident of said County, being sixty-eight years of age to make his declaration in order to obtain the benefits of the act of Congress of 7th June 1832.

He was mustered into service sometime in 1780 under the command of Capt. Frederick Dixon. Marched to Cabin Point. Was in Reg. com. by Col. Baskins about 13 weeks. With this Reg. at short intervals until the surrender of Cornwallis in Oct 1781. He was discharged in Nov. 1781. He was born in Sussex Co., VA. He removed to Brunswick Co., VA where he remained about thirty years. After which he was a resident of Dinwiddie Co., VA for ten or eleven years. He never received any written discharge and had no documentary evidence of his service. Thomas Wilkinson, a resident of Dinwiddie Co., VA made sworn statement the declaration was true. Isham E. Hargrave, a clergyman also made a sworn statement.

NATHANIEL RANEY signed by mark. Pension no. 511277.

The son of NATHANIEL RANEY, decd., a Pensioner on the Roll of the Richmond, VA agency, received $36.66 from 4th Sept 1839 to the 5th March 1840.

(Ed. Note: The name is spelled both ways in the document.)

II. Notebook labeled New York Miscellaneous.

Early New York Naturalizations 1792-1840. JOHN RAINY, Subj. of C.B., 14 March 1840 (in bundle #36)

New York, Delaware Co., Vol. III Pension Rolls, Page 187 (514). SOLOMAN RANNEY, Conn. Service #543903.

New York City until 1842 RAIN. (Ed. Note: Nothing on this page but the following clipping from GH Nov.-Dec. 1981):

35-6-23 Question: Mrs. Tallack Johnson, 721 10th Street South, Benson, MN 56215.

"In a book, Handbook of Denominations, I found in 1829 four missionaries from the Primitive Methodist Church in England came to America settling in New York and Philadelphia. My great great grandfather, JOHN RAINE, a pastor in the Primitive Methodist church came to America from Durham England in 1829. He lived in New York City until 1842 when he came West to the Rocky Ford Circuit in Illinois and Wisconsin. I am wondering where I can find out if he was one of the original missionaries."

New York: Rensselaer County.
In an undated letter to Mrs. Waldenmaier we find "GEORGE RAMEY b. 1833 in Schodaek, Rensselaer County, New York. I believe he is a descendant of JOHN OLIVER REMY, France to Holland to Nova Scotia, to U.S. as there was double marriages between them and Flints, one of which was George's wife."

Waldenmaier's reply in part: "Yes, I have seen the French-background family. However, those I have in my files are of Virginia. The earliest emigrant was JACQUES RAMEY DE IVOY of Picardy, in Lorraine, France--- arrived in Virginia in 1654-1655. JACQUES RAMEY eventually took the name JACOB RAMEY.

In Prince William County, Virginia a French family spelled the name: DE REMI.

This Is Marolyn

Marolyn Marshall, Route 1 Box 56, Carthage, AR 71725 has been working with RANEY for ever so many years. She also works the RAINY version in the belief we are all in some way connected with or without the "i". Marolyn corresponds with a large number of people in her ancestor hunting and has a lot of information in letter form. Marolyn does not claim credit for all the information.

From the book "The Darnall/Darnell Family", Vol. 2:

Johnny Roy Gilliam (b 2 Mar 1900, d 16 Apr 1978) mar 13 Oct 1920 to Mossie Ann Stewart (b 29 Nov 1900, d 4 Feb 1969). They were mar in Hancock Co., TN. She was b in Lee Co., VA & bur in Cooper Creek, Scott Co., VA. Johnny Roy Gilliam mar 2nd 18 Feb 1971 to Dollie McClellan Carter. He was b in Scott Co, VA and died there. He is bur in the Cooper Creek plot, Scott Co., VA. Children of Johnny Roy Gilliam and Mossie Ann Stewart include #6 Vesti Gilliam who married Tive RAINY.

From Mrs. Nelle J. Smith, Route 6, Pulaski, TN 38478: 30 Mar 1975

My sister-in-law has a RAINY line that I have some dates on. Horace D. RAINY b NC 9 June 1799 mar Eliza Summerhill in Granville Co. before coming to this area. Some of the related families were in Limestone Co., AL (our southern boundary). They were related to the Williamson, Amis, etc.

I have a copy of a petition signed by many of Giles Co. settlers in 1819.

I checked this list which represented the earliest settlers but I didn't find Samuel RAINY.

From Mrs. Walter W. Raney, McCrory, AR: 23 Feb 1970

Part of letter: My late husband had no children. I was a second wife and we had none. His father (Walter W.'s) was H.T. RANEY, and he died many years before Walter & I married. Walter's only sister Nannie RANEY Woerts/Woorts died also soon after we married. There are several families of RANEYS at Harrison AR, but I know nothing of their connections. There are several families in Little Rock, too.

[MM Note: I'm unable to make out the surname of Walter's sister. Also I don't know if Mrs. Walter RANEY (Ida M. RANEY) is still living. Late Walter W. RANEY of McCrory ran a newspaper back in 1950's and was also in AR politics in 1920's and 1930's.]

RANEY: Our Missouri Raneys have been traced back to KY and TN. In the late 1800's two RANEY families moved into the state from Somerset, Pulaski Co., KY. LEVI RANEY and AARON RANEY, according to family members, were said to be brothers. However, based on census data which shows Levi's parents to be from KY and Aaron's parents to be from TN, I believe that they were only first cousins. Nevertheless, these two men did marry sisters--Cassa Ann Barnes and Amanda Jane Barnes. Levi and Cassa settled near Mountain Grove, MO in 1868. Approximately ten years later, Aaron and Jane moved first into northern MO and then hear Nartville, MO. Levi and Aaron, along with most of their children, were farmers, semi-churchgoing Methodists, and advocates of the Democratic party. We have found no military records to indicate their sympathies during the Civil War. A third RANEY family came from the Somerset, Pulaski Co., KY area into MO. The JOSEPH PORTER RANEY family claims to be cousins of the other two branches, but no connection can be made. Need anything you can add to these three families.

Special Feature

The following article is reprinted from Texas Magazine of the Houston Chronicle, Houston, Texas, August 14, 1983. It was contributed to RAINY TIMES by one of the authors of the article, Vernon L. Williams, who is a historian at North Harris County College in Houston. He is currently working on a book that includes the editing of a Civil War memoir of I.N. Rainey.

TWO SOLDIERS

Tales of the Civil War from both sides of the trenches

By James T. Moore and Vernon L. Williams

If I.N. Rainey, of the Confederate 7th Tennessee Cavalry, and William R. Eddington, of the Union 97th Illinois Infantry, ever caught a glimpse of each other, it was from opposing sides of the battle in the Vicksburg Campaign of 1863.

They would have had to have spied each other across earthworks, and through a maze of flying grapeshot and minie balls.

In the darkest hour of American history, young men like Rainey and Eddington were pitted against each other in the bloodiest, and most tragic of wars to embroil the country.

Rainey and Eddington were young men when called to service. Each viewed his cause as sacred. Each saw the battle and the war itself from his own perspective. Both Rainey and Eddington survived, returned home and late in life wrote about their experiences during the terrible war that they remembered so vividly.

The discovery of the two men's memoirs was a rare coincidence for two North Harris County College professors, James T. Moore and Vernon Williams. The professors were working independently on their own studies of the Civil War when they realized that Rainey and Eddington were in the same campaign, one fighting for the Union and the other for the Confederacy. Further, both men were the same age when they wrote their memoirs and both manuscripts were uncovered almost simultaneously.

Here, 120 years later, the two men, I.N. Rainey and William R. Eddington, are brought together again, not to fight the battle but rather to leave history a parting shot.

The Confederate cavalryman— I.N. Rainey

In June 1864, the Confederate Army of Joseph E. Johnston was firmly entrenched along the 10-mile base of Kennesaw, Pine and Lost Mountains in central Georgia. All along the line, Gen. William T. Sherman's Union infantry and cavalry attacked and probed for a weak spot in the Confederate earthworks. So intense was the firepower from the two opposing sides, that the air seemed to be filled with solid lead. Soon the battlefield lay strewn with bodies of the dead and severely wounded.

I.N. (Neise) Rainey, of the 7th Tennessee Cavalry, described the scene on Kennesaw Mountain in his recently discovered memoir:

"To the north (of Kennesaw Mountain) is a broad plain running back from the mountain for some miles.

Farm boys like Rainey were the human mettle for the bloody battles

The Confederates fortified the hill with a fort with heavy guns on the top. We had lines of breastworks near to and running parallel to the length of the mountain. I was sent with a communication to the officer in command of the works on the top. From that elevation, I saw part of the bloody battle of Kennesaw Mountain.

"I was standing with a group of officers who were watching a certain (Union) battery which was bombarding the hill from a distance of perhaps a mile. There Sherman accomplished a feat which before had been thought impossible for field guns. He elevated his guns at an angle which enabled him to fire over the mountain, an elevation of perhaps 600 feet. Several shells burst over our heads. We would see the flash of the gun, the shell would burst over us before we heard the report of the gun! A wonder to me then."

I.N. Rainey was the son of an upper middle-class farmer near Columbia, Tenn. The Rainey family represented the best of the Southern family traditions — high ideals and a firm sense of mission.

Rainey shared his parents' ideas about slavery. Each of them brought slaves to the marriage. The Rainies owned some 25 slaves, more than they could use on their farm. Rainey called them "family Negroes" because his father would never sell or buy a slave. He neglects to discuss the question of the original acquisition of the slaves.

Most Southerners were slave owners. They firmly held their "constitutional" right to own those slaves. But there were other Southerners who either did not own slaves or questioned the morality of slavery. The Rainey family's view of slavery was typical of their Southern neighbors.

Rainey's account spans the period from the war until well into the 20th century. His attitudes appear to have remained unchanged from boyhood.

His father "believed that slavery was right. I have often heard my mother say that she did not. Our Negroes were devoted to their 'white folks.' (I) will say in passing that after the Civil War several of them refused to leave . . . stayed with them until they died and were buried by 'our white folks.' The younger ones (the Rainey slaves) settled around Columbia. Today (1925) their second generation, if in trouble, appeal to the Rainies for help and counsel and are sure to get sympathy."

These beliefs represent more than justification for slave ownership or mere motivation for a war against Northern oppression. These attitudes were the basis for the Southern way of life for much of the white population. At the end of his life, Rainey accepted the defeat of the South as being for the best. But he still viewed the black man in pre-Civil War contexts.

According to Rainey's narrative, the Rainies, as late as 1925, were still responsible for the guidance of their former slaves' descendants. He accepted the continued paternal role for the white survivors of the Old South and believed that the new black generations should remain fixed in the old pattern of racial subordination.

These middle class Southern attitudes are part of the story of the conflict. Indeed, it was this group of middle-class Southerners who shouldered the responsibilities for fighting the war. Farm boys like I.N. Rainey made up the ranks of the Confederate Army, not the sons of wealthy plantation owners. They provided the human mettle for the bloody battles fought in a losing cause.

Rainey enlisted in the Confederate Army on March 20, 1863. He was just a few days short of his 18th birthday when he rode from his homestead with Gen. William H. (Red) Jackson's cavalry. For the rest of the war, Rainey would remain with Jackson, most of the time acting as special escort or message runner for the general.

Because of this assignment, Rainey managed to stay close to Jackson during several important and decisive campaigns. On one occasion near Vicksburg, General Bedford Forrest ordered Jackson to return Rainey's company to its regiment for duty on the line. Rainey's account reveals perhaps a biased memory of the reply by Jackson. "Jackson refused, saying, 'I can't spare my company. There's not a man in it I would not trust with a verbal message as (I) would a staff officer!'" Forrest relented and Jackson kept the company.

Rainey's first encounter with Jackson during cavalry training at Spring Hill gave Rainey his first real fear that he would not survive the war. It had nothing to do with the Yankees:

"On the second day after we arrived, Gen. Jackson took the company to one of the level fields to put us through the sabre exercise. I was very 'green' (and) so was my mare, Kate.

"We were ordered to charge! On we went at full run, Kate ahead of them all, she just didn't want to stop. Finally she did stop . . . Captain ordered (the) Company to form. Just then I noticed my saddle blanket had slipped. I got down to adjust it — which was a breach of discipline. The Genl rode up to me . . . (First we had ever met) 'What are you doing sir?' 'My blanket slipped sir!' 'By — sir: the next time SADDLE your horse before you leave CAMP sir!'

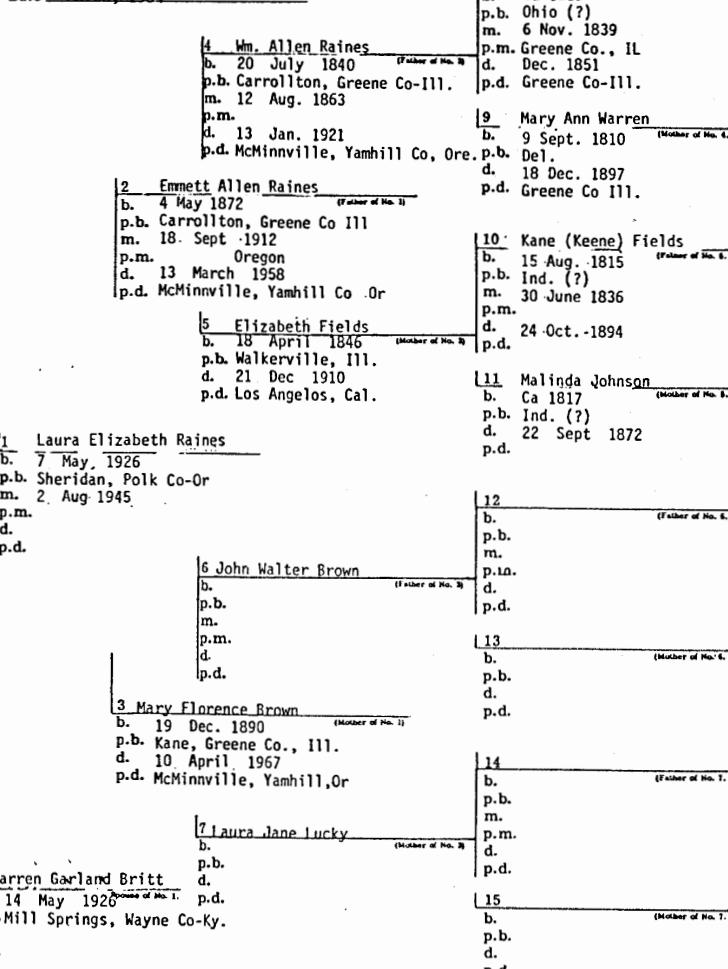

"I expected to be taken out and shot. In fact, I knew it! I knew him better afterward and grew to love him."
